RE: Tax Withholding in Israel

AudioCodes Ltd. may be required to pay withholding tax in Israel on behalf of holders of its 2.00% Senior Convertible Notes due 2024 (the “Notes”). The next interest payment on the Notes is payable on November 9, 2007 to holders of record on October 24, 2007. Attached is a certification requiring each holder of the Notes to provide tax withholding information to AudioCodes.

Participants using DTC’s TaxRelief program via the Elective Dividend Service (the “EDS”), can elect to receive the interest payment on all or a portion of their record date position in the Notes at an exempt or other withholding tax rate to be specified during the EDS election window, which will open on or about Thursday, October 25, 2007 and close on Wednesday, November 7, 2007.

Following is a brief summary of the withholding rates that will apply:

Exempt Rate—0%

- Holders that are not Israeli residents, are exempt from tax on the interest income on the Notes in their country of domicile, and are either:
 - a non-Israeli pension fund;
 - a non-Israeli government/state fund;
 - a non-Israeli provident pension fund; or
 - another party entitled to an exemption from tax on income in their country of domicile (subject to the approval of the professional department of the tax authority in Israel).

- Holders that are Israeli residents or hold the Notes on behalf of an Israeli resident and are exempt from tax on interest income on the Notes.

Such holders (i) may elect a 0% withholding rate through the EDS system, and (ii) should complete a copy of the attached Withholding Certification form, along with documentation concerning the applicable tax exemption, and return it to AudioCodes at address indicated below.

10% Withholding Rate—Ireland Tax Treaty Rate

- Holders who are not Israeli residents, for whom Ireland is the country of domicile, who are not exempt from tax on interest income on the Notes in Ireland and are eligible for a 10% withholding rate under the tax treaty between Israel and Ireland. Such holders may elect withholding at a rate of 10% through the EDS system.

17.5% Withholding Rate—U.S. Treaty Rate

- Holders who are not Israeli residents, for whom the United States is the country of domicile, who are not exempt from tax on interest income on the Notes in the United States and are eligible for a 17.5% withholding rate under the tax treaty between Israel and the United States. Such holders may elect withholding at a rate of 17.5% through the EDS system.

20% Default Rate—Statutory Maximum Rate

Holders in any of the following categories will default to a 20% withholding rate, which is the statutory maximum rate:

- Holders who are not Israeli residents, are not exempt from tax on interest income on the Notes in their country of domicile, and for which no tax treaty exists between Israel and their country of domicile providing for a lower withholding rate.
- Holders who are Israeli residents or hold the Notes on behalf of an Israeli resident and are not exempt from tax on interest income on the Notes.
- Holders to whom the 0%, 10% and 17.5% withholding categories described above are inapplicable.
- Holders who fail to respond before the close of the EDS election window on Wednesday, November 7, 2007.

Where to Send Withholding Certification Forms

Any holder that is exempt from withholding or entitled to a tax withholding rate other than the 0%, 10%, 17.5% and 20% rates described above should complete a separate copy of the attached Withholding Certification form and submit it, along with documentation concerning the applicable exemption or withholding rate to:

AudioCodes Ltd.

Any questions should be directed to Itamar Rosen at +972-3-976-4000.

Attachment

Tax withholdings with respect to the November 9, 2007 interest payment will be made in accordance with the responses of DTC Participants using DTC's TaxRelief Program via the Elective Dividend Service. Holders of Notes held through DTC Participants who fail to respond by the close of the election window on Wednesday, November 7, 2007 will be subject to tax withholding at a rate of 20%. Separate responses are required to the extent that different beneficial holders of the Notes fall into different withholding categories set forth below or are eligible for different withholding tax rates. Any holder of Notes eligible, under an applicable tax treaty or certificate from the Israeli Tax Authority, for withholding at a tax rate other than as set forth in paragraphs 1 through 6 below (to be described by completing paragraph 7 below), should complete a hardcopy of this form and submit it, along with documentation concerning the applicable tax withholding rate, to Itamar Rosen, General Counsel, AudioCodes Ltd., fax number +972-3-976-4044.
